For the above-mentioned solar module, Lin Yang Photovoltaic Technology Co., Ltd. (hereinafter referred to as "Lin Yang ") guarantees the performance of its photovoltaic solar module (hereinafter referred to as "module") from (1) the date of sale to the first installation (self-use) customer with verifiable invoice (the "sales date"), or its (2) 12 months from the date of shipment from Lin Yang factory, whichever comes first (the "warranty period start date").

1. Limited product quality warranty - repair, replacement, or refund compensation

Lin Yang guarantees that its modules, including DC connectors and cables (if applicable), are free from material and workmanship defects under normal application, installation, use, and service conditions. If the module fails to meet the quality guarantee requirements within the first 180 months after the quality guarantee start date, Lin Yang may choose to repair, replace the product, or refund the current similar Lin Yang module price. This repair, replacement, or refund is the sole and exclusive remedy under this limited product quality warranty and shall not exceed the quality guarantee period specified herein. Replacement modules shall use A-grade or higher modules. This "limited product quality warranty" does not guarantee the specific output power of the replacement module, as stipulated in the second paragraph (the "limited peak power quality warranty").

2. Limited peak power quality warranty - Limited compensation measure output ratio guarantee

- For N-type modules, the actual average power output in the first year shall not be less than 99% of the rated power, and the maximum average power decay rate in the subsequent 2 to 3 0 years shall not exceed 0.4%.

Linyang guarantees that each module does not have any material or workmanship defects, so the module will not malfunction and fail to produce the guaranteed output power specified in the Linyang product specifications. If, according to Linyang own judgment, any module fails to provide the guaranteed power output ratio due to material and workmanship quality defects, Linyang may choose to replace it with compensation either by providing additional modules to compensate for the power loss or by replacing the defective module or parts with functionally equivalent modules or parts to compensate for this part of the power loss. Or (2) the module cost will be refunded to the customer in proportion to the less than the guaranteed output power ratio, (calculated based on the current similar module pricing).

3. Exclusions and Limitations

- (1) In all cases, all warranty claims must be received within the validity period of the quality guarantee.
- (2) "Limited Product Quality Guarantee" and "Limited Peak Power Quality Guarantee" do not apply to the following components under the following circumstances:
